DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

1. Claims 2-12, 15-23, 25-35 and 38-46 have been amended and claims 1 and 24 have been canceled in the preliminary amendment filed 04 April 2001. Thus, claims 2-23 and 25-46 remain pending and are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 2-23, 25-28 and 32-46 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shah et al, U.S. Patent No. 5,636,122.

As per Claims 2-23, Shah et al disclose a dispatch management system for maintaining information on the status of vehicles, the system including:

- a host (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15)
- at least one terminal coupled to the host for the entry of an order for the dispatch of a vehicle (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15);
- a terminal for updating the dispatch status of the vehicle, generating an order confirmation and generating reports (Figures 10-11; Col. 13, lines 10-18; Col. 15, lines 4-10; Col. 17, lines 12-27);
- a host for creating machine readable code and vehicle identifiers (Figures 8, 10-11; Col. 6, lines 14-20);
- a host for creating a visual indication based on a criterion (Figures 5-6);

Art Unit: 3621

- a host for automatically changing information based on a criterion (Figures 8, 10-11; Col. 15, lines 4-10; Col. 17, lines 12-27);
- a host for searching for information based on a criterion (Figures 8, 10-11; Col. 15, lines 5-10)
- a host for controlling access and identifying individuals who modify information (Figures 8, 10-11; Col. 11, lines 1-5; Col. 13, lines 20-45)

Furthermore, claims directed to an apparatus must be distinguished from the prior art in terms of structure rather than function, In re Danly, 263 F.2d 844, 847, 120 USPQ 528, 531 (CCPA 1959). A claim containing a "recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus" if the prior art apparatus teaches all the structural limitations of the claim. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (Bd Pat. App. & Inter. 1987). Thus, the structural limitations of claim 1, including a host and at least one terminal coupled to the host are disclosed in Shah et al as described above. Thus, the functional limitations related to storing particular types of information such as time stamps, status of the order, order completion data, whether or not the vehicle can be driven or needs to be towed, whether a key is available, information on the status of a vehicle, assignment of a driver do not further distinguish the structure of the system.

As per Claims 2-3, 11 and 25-26, Shah et al disclose a dispatch management system for maintaining information on the status of vehicles, the system including:

- a host (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15)
- at least one terminal coupled to the host for the entry of an order for the dispatch of a vehicle by a customer (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15);
- wherein the information includes a time stamp for indicating when a transaction is ordered by a customer (Figure 10; Col. 14, lines 50-55; Col. 16, lines 33-36).

As per Claims 4-5 and 27-28, Shah et al disclose a dispatch management system for maintaining information on the status of vehicles, the system including:

- a host (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15)
- at least one terminal coupled to the host for the entry of an order for the dispatch of a vehicle (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15);
- wherein the information includes the status of an order (Figure 11);
- wherein the information includes whether placement of the order by the customer is complete (Col. 15, lines 4-35)

As per Claims 9-10 and 32-34, Shah et al disclose a dispatch management system for maintaining information on the status of vehicles, the system including:

- a host (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15)
- at least one terminal coupled to the host for the entry of an order for the dispatch of a vehicle by a customer (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15);
- apparatus for generating machine-readable code such as a vehicle identifier for updating vehicle information (Figures 5, 8, 10-11; Col. 6, lines 14-33).

As per Claims 12 and 35, Shah et al disclose a dispatch management system for maintaining information on the status of vehicles, the system including:

- a host (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15)
- at least one terminal coupled to the host for the entry of an order for the dispatch of a vehicle (Figure 8; Col. 8 line 55-Col. 9 line 15; Col. 11, lines 1-15; Col. 12, lines 35-45; Col. 13, lines 4-15);

Art Unit: 3621

- the information on the status of the vehicle including vehicle original location as well as destination location and other information (Figures 10-11).

As per Claims 13 and 36, Shah et al further disclose wherein the vehicle's identity includes a vehicle identification number (Figure 5; Col. 6, lines 15-20).

As per Claims 14 and 37, Shah et al further disclose wherein the terminal includes a terminal for updating the dispatch status of the vehicle (Figure 10-11; Col. 15, lines 4-10, Col. 17, lines 12-27).

As per Claims 15, 18, 38 and 41, Shah et al further disclose wherein the information on the status of the vehicle includes the assignment of a driver for the vehicle (Figure 5; Col. 10, lines 50-52; Col. 15, lines 14-30).

As per Claims 16 and 39, Shah et al further disclose wherein the terminal includes a terminal for generating order confirmation (Col. 13, lines 10-45).

As per Claims 17 and 40, Shah et al further disclose means for generating reports from information collected by the system (Figure 11; Col. 13, lines 10-18).

As per Claims 19 and 42, Shah et al further disclose a host for creating/displaying a visual indication based on a criterion (Figures 5-6).

As per Claims 20 and 43, Shah et al further disclose a host for automatically changing information based on a criterion (Col. 15, lines 4-10, Col. 17, lines 12-27).

As per Claims 21 and 44, Shah et al further disclose a host for searching for information based on a criterion (Col. 15, lines 5-10).

As per Claims 22-23 and 45-46, Shah et al further disclose a host for controlling access to the system for changing information and identifying individuals who modify stored information (Figures 8, 10-11; Col. 11, lines 1-5; Col. 13, lines 20-45).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 6-8 and 29-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shah et al, U.S. Patent No. 5,636,122 in view of Smith et al, U.S. Patent No. 6,430,496 B1.

As per Claims 6-8 and 29-31, Shah et al further disclose information regarding the dispatching of vehicles such as vehicle ready time, delivery time, service type, vehicle type and other information and further disclose that other forms of data may also be captured depending upon the particular application (Col. 13, lines 30-33; Col. 14, lines 50-55). Shah et al fail to explicitly disclose wherein the information includes whether the vehicle can be driven. Smith et al disclose a fully automated vehicle dispatching system and further teach wherein the system may store information regarding the vehicle such as whether it is available or not (Col. 1, lines 55-65; Col. 11, lines 34-40; Col. 14, lines 20-24) which indicates that the vehicle can be driven. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to modify the method of Shah et al and include information regarding the status of the vehicle such as whether it can be driven or not as suggested by Smith et al. This would enable the dispatchers to only dispatch vehicles which are available and can be driven.

Furthermore, the various types or elements of data that can be stored or maintained by the system such as whether the vehicle must be towed or whether a key for operating the vehicle is available are directed to non-functional descriptive material and are not functionally involved in the steps recited. The steps of storing or maintaining various types or forms of data would be performed the same regardless of the descriptive material since none of the steps explicitly interact therewith. Limitations that are not functionally interrelated with the useful acts, structure, or properties of the claimed invention carry little or no patentable weight. Thus, this descriptive material will not further distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in terms of patentability, see In re Gulack, 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed. Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Therefore, it would also have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to store or maintain by type or form of data because such data does not functionally relate to the steps in the method claimed and because the subjective interpretation of the data does not patentably distinguish the claimed invention.
